WORKSHOP ON Learning Life Skills through Theatrics

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

The Life Skills through Theatrics aims at active learning through experience, practice, reflection and discussion. And it has been designed based on drama techniques. Varied creative drama techniques are used to serve the objectives including techniques from Theater of the Oppressed. Participants will find some familiar games and activities that have been modified or developed to suit the intended objectives.

Dramatic play and acting are effective because it allows insight by elaborating on the physical/sensory and emotional experience in the 'here and now' rather than only relying on thinking. In other words, the process allows the engagement of the whole being in a unified learning experience, combining behaviors, cognitions, emotions, and the social dimension of the being.

It is a rehearsal for real life actions and decisions.

OBJECTIVES

- To encourage use of imagination, maximize creative potential and thereby increase confidence in the self.
- To develop an ability among participants to express through the medium of drama, mime etc. and thereby raise their level of confidence.
